

What Is Justification?

Justification is the act of assuming the righteousness of the one justified.

How many kinds of justification are there? There are two kinds of justification which are legal justification and evangelical justification.

What is legal justification? Legal justification is justification according to the law.

What is evangelical justification? Evangelical justification is justification according to the Gospel.

What is the opposite of justification? Condemnation is the opposite of justification. Does justification change the heart of man? Justification does not change the heart of man; it is changed by man's state.

What does justification do for man? Justification declares man free without the imputation of guilt.

What does justification include? Justification includes the pardon of sin and the promise of eternal life.

Do we merit justification? Man does not merit justification. John 3:16 God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.

Through or by whom do we obtain justification? We obtain justification by the merit of Jesus Christ.

What kind of blessing is justification? Justification is a Gospel blessing. Acts 13:39 And by him all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses.

Who are the subjects of justification? Sinners are the subject of justification. How does evangelical justification differ from legal justification? Evangelical justification is justification by grace. (Where Man Will Not Forgive You God Will).
